Baltimore Lock Hospital.

DR. JOHNSTON.

Physician of this celebrated Institution, has discovered the most Certain, Speedy, Pleasant and Effectual Remedy in the World for all DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.

Weakness of the Back, or Limbs, Strictures, Affections of the Kidneys, or Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Languor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight, or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels—those terrible disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—SECRET and solitary practices, more fatal to their victims, than the songs of the Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes, or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN

especially, who have become the Victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.

Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, aware of Physical Weakness (Loss of Procreative Power—Impotency,) Nervous Excitability, Palpitation, Organic Weakness, Nervous Debility, or any other disqualification, speedily relieved.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. J. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidentially rely upon his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS,

IMPOTENCY, LOSS OF POWER.

Immediately Cured, and Full Vigor Restored.

This distressing affection—which renders life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences.—Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny, that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits, than by the prudent? Beside being deprived of the pleasures of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions Weakened, Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility, and Wasting of the Frame, Cough, Consumption, Decay and Death.

A CURE WARRANTED IN TWO DAYS.

Relief in Six Hours! No Mercury!

Persons Ruined by Ignorant, Trifling Pretenders, and their Deadly Poisons, should apply immediately.

DR. JOHNSTON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London. Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgences and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects of the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self-Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emicated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of Consumption.

who have injured themselves by a certain practice, indulged in when alone, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and employments of life, by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contemplating reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed to despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another is blighted with our own.

DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease makes their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings, by sending him to that undiscovered country, "from whence no traveler returns."

It is a melancholy fact, that thousands DIE victims to this terrible disease, through falling into the hands of Ignorant or Unskillful PRETENDERS, who by the use of that deadly Poison, Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and incapable of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer month after month taking their noxious or injurious compounds, and instead of being restored to a renewal of Life, Vigor and happiness, in despair leave him with ruined Health, to sign over his galling disappointment.

To such, therefore, Dr JOHNSTON pledges himself to preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and from his extensive practice and observations in the great Hospitals of Europe, and the first in this country, viz: England, France, Philadelphia and elsewhere, is enabled to offer the most Speedy, Certain and Effectual Remedy in the World for all diseases of Imprudence.

DR. JOHNSTON,
OFFICE, 7 SOUTH FREDERICK STREET,
BALTIMORE, MD.,

left hand side going from Baltimore street, a few doors from the corner. Fail not to observe the name and number.

No letters received unless postpaid and containing a stamp to be used on the reply. Persons writing should state age, and send a portion of advertisement describing symptoms.

There are so many Paltry, Designing and Worthless Imposters advertising themselves as Physicians, trifling with and ruining the health of all who unfortunately fall into their power, that Dr. Johnston deems it necessary to say especially to those unacquainted with his reputation, that his Credentials or Diplomas always hang in his office.

ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS.

The many thousands cured at this establishment, year after year, and the numerous Surgical Operations performed by Dr. Johnston witnessed by the representatives of the press and many other persons, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, besides his standing as a gentleman of character and responsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted.

SKIN DISEASES SPEEDILY CURED.

March 11, 1870—1ylpr

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

THE reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it.—Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, which excites a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on a favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one or the other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of the disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also, in more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

HUMOROUS.

AN Iowa farmer going to market on a load of hay, enjoyed a smoke. The iron work of the wagon was saved.

A LITTLE girl wants to know if fleas are white, because, her uncle told her that "Mary had a little lamb with fleece as white as snow."

AN Illinois postmaster gives notice as follows: "After this date everybody must lick their own postage stamps, for my tongue's tired."

"Do you like codfish balls, Mr. Wiggins?" Mr. W., hesitatingly, "I really don't know, Miss; I don't recollect ever attending one."

A CLUB of henpecked husbands meet once a week, that meeting being their only day of enjoyment and rest. When they adjourned they called it rising of the tied.

"MISS BROWN, I have been to learn how to tell fortunes," said a young man to a brisk brunette; "just give me your hand, if you please." "La, Mr. White, how very sudden you are; well, go and ask pa."

A HOOSIER on a Western steamboat, when the passengers went to bed, laid down with his boots on. The steward seeing this, walked, up and angrily said—"Sir, you have laid down with your boots on." Mr. Hoosier calmy raised his head, and looking down at his boots, innocently replied—"Oh! it won't hurt them—they are not my best pair."

HARD ON AN EDITOR.—An Indianapolis editor recently discovered there was an acre and a half of Government land in one of the counties bordering on the Ohio river. He paid three dollars and eighteen cents for it. Going to see what he had purchased the County Surveyor showed him an elegant sand-bar in a bend of the Ohio river just below low water mark.

"I SYMPATHIZE sincerely with your grief," said a French lady to a recently widowed friend. "To lose such a husband as yours"—"Ah, yes he was very good; and then, you see such a misfortune is always great, for one knows what kind of a husband she has lost, but cannot tell what kind of a man one will find to suceed him."

"FRANK," said an affectionate lady, the other day, to a promising young American. "If you don't stop smoking and reading so much, you will get so, after a while, that you will not care anything about work." "Mother," replied young hopeful, leisurely removing a very long cigar, and turning another leaf of Barnum, "I've got so now!"

A SMART Yankee was one evening seated in a bar-room of a country tavern in Canada, whittling with a jack-knife.—There were assembled several Englishmen discussing various matters connected with the pomp and circumstance of war. In the course of his remarks, one of them stated that the British Government possessed the largest cannon in the world, and gave the dimension of one he had seen. The Yankee would not let such a base assertion pass uncontradicted.

"Poh! gentlemen," said he "I won't deny that it is a fair sized cannon; but you are a leetle mistaken in supposing it is to be named the same minute with one of our Yanke guns which I saw in Charleston last year. Why, sir, it was so large that the soldiers had to employ a yoke of oxen to draw in the ball!"

"And pray," exclaimed one of his hearers, with a smile of triumph, "can you tell us how they got the oxen out again?"

"Of course I can," returned the Yankee, "they unyoked 'em and drove 'em through the touch-hole!"

THINGS THAT NEVER DIE.

The pure, the bright, the beautiful,
That stirred our hearts in youth,
The impulse to a wordless prayer,
The dream of love and truth;
The longings after somethings lost,
The spirit's yearning cry,
The striving after better hopes—
These things can never die.

The timid hand stretched forth to aid
A brother in his need,
The kindly word in grief's dark hour
That proves a friend indeed—
The plea for mercy, softly breathed
When justice threatens high,
The sorrow of a contrite heart—
These things can never die.

The memory of a clasping hand,
The pressure of a kiss,
And all the trifles, sweet and fleet,
That made up love's first bliss;
If with a firm unchanging faith
And holy trust and high,
Those hands have clasped, those lips have met—
These things shall never die.

The cruel and the bitter word,
That wounded as it fell;
The chilling want of sympathy,
We feel but never tell;
The hard repulse that chills the heart,
Whose hopes were bounding high,
In an unfaded record kept—
These things shall never die.

Let nothing pass; for every hand
Must find some work to do;
Lose not a chance to waken love;
Be firm, and just, and true;
So shall the light that cannot fade,
Beam on thee from on high,
And angel voices say to thee:
"These things shall never die."

FOR THE LITTLE FOLKS.

COALS OF FIRE.

The prizes at Enderby were given either in books or money, whichever the winner preferred. The presentation was not a public ceremony. So when the doctor had read off the names of the successful candidates, the audience gave the usual rounds of applause, and the boys in the galleries stamped till the old church shook, and clapped till their hands nearly blistered. Then the Boston band struck up "Home, Sweet Home," in such an enticing way that every one set out for their sweet home as fast as possible, and in ten minutes the church was silent and deserted.

The last notes of the band had died away, the musicians were bagging their instruments and buttoning up their overcoats, the sexton was shuffling softly around in his slippers, putting out the lights, the doctor and the gentlemen of the committee were waiting on the platform, and a dozen or more of us boys were waiting in the porch to see the last of the evening. The sexton tapped Harry Stearnes on the shoulder. The sexton was a small man, seedy and solemn. We used to expend a vast amount of small wit upon him. He was known familiarly in those days as "Old Headstones," "Old Crossbones," "Old Dust and Dust."

"Young gentleman," said he, in a sepulchral tone, much as if he were summoning the boy to attend his own funeral; "young gentleman, you are wanted by the gentlemen upon the platform."

"You will wait for me, won't you, boys?" said Harry, turning to go.

"Hurry up then," cried Max, shuffling off a small breakdown, to keep his feet warm. "It is cold out here. Short and sweet is your music, old boy. It would not take me long to accept thirty dollars and complimentary remarks from His Reverence the Doctor and the Lord High Nabobs of Committee men."

"O, but wouldn't Grove Vorse like to be standing in his shoes now?" said I, peering in at the open door, and watching Harry mount the rickety steps and shake hands with the gentlemen."

"Yes, sir!" said Max, emphatically. "Vorse would give all the double-refined patent leathers of a life time, to stand in those country-made cowhides these five minutes. By the way, Grove slipped off quite small and still at the last, didn't he?"

"I suppose he is disappointed; everybody thought he would get the prize, and told him so. I am sorry for him," said I.

"Well, I am not. If Grove Vorse feels badly, he must do his own weeping, without any assistance from me. I couldn't start my eye pumps on his account, though I might work off a few salt drops for a fellow who finds his good luck too much for him."

Max finished this remark with a wink and nod at Harry, who had joined us, with a suspicious moisture in his bright eyes and quiver about his mouth, for the doctor's hearty words of cheer and encouragement had been the last drop in his own full heart. He stepped past us into the open air, straightened himself up, drew a breath, and took one quick look around on the earth, white with moonlight, and up at the sky, glittering with stars.

"I suppose you are taking a look at your real estate, Stearnes," said Max. "Own up, now; don't you feel as if you owned all of this world, and a few town lots in the moon?"

Harry laughed. Max was not far out of the way. A boy of sixteen who has won the first prize in his school, who has thirty dollars tingling in his pocket, and the good wishes of a hundred friends tingling in his heart, comes as near owning the world as he ever will, if he lives to be a hundred, and counts his millions.

The triumphs of school life. Do they seem to you poor and small, you toilers in the noonday of life? I fear it is because your eyes are old and weary in pursuit of fame or wealth. It seems to me there is a freshness and exhiliration of hope about the winning and wearing of those early honors, that never attends the prouder triumphs of mature life. It does very well for me to dwell fondly on the delights of school honors, for I never toook a prize—not one; but then I have been well acquainted with some boys who did, and sympathized largely with them, and that is the way I know about it.

Max Foster and I locked our arms in Harry's, and we started for home.

"We shall find our den in a pretty state of rough and tumble," said Harry. "You see, our door locked itself, or did some other wretched trick, when I was up there this evening, and I had to string the bedclothes together and take the air line for terra firma. Don't you see the rope flapping there now?" he exclaimed, as we turned a corner, and the dormitory building came in view.

"I see something," said Max, incredulously. "But you don't say that is your downy couch and its accessories, walked high and dry out of the window, and dangling there, like Mahomet's coffin, between heaven and earth."

"That is what it is, though," answered Harry. "That is the outside passage. I climbed out of the window, slid down the rope, and eloped with myself—no bones broken nor brains split. So help me gather in the duds and set up housekeeping again. The things have had a good airing, anyway."

"I should think they had—they are aired like a mainmast in a northeaster."

We carried the bed up stairs. The door was locked—no mistake about it—and the key was on the outside. The room was dismal as a den; a raw gust of wind came whirling in at the open window; a cracked panel and the marks of desperate kicking were on the door. We hauled in the bedclothes, untied the hard knots, and straightened matters in boy fashion, and soon were cosy enough, with a newly-kindled fire and a good light.

"Now I want to know who locked that door!" cried Max. "It's clear nonsense about it locking itself. Iron bolts don't take nervous starts, and lock and unlock themselves. Somebody followed you up here. Somebody turned that key; and somebody is a mean sneak. And I am very certain that I know who that somebody is. If you will give me leave, I will go straight to his room now, accuse him of it, and scare him into owning up, and then we will set to and drub him till he howls for mercy."

"You don't know anything for certain," said Harry; "and if you did, where's the fun in drubbing the fellow? He has done no harm."

"No thanks to him that he did not; he meant to cheat you out of that prize, and I am loud for vengeance on such a sneak. Let's tell the doctor; he will soon ferret it out, and show up this fancy turnkey of ours," cried I.

But Harry would hear nothing of the sort. Whatever his own suspicions may have been, he kept them to himself, and did not encourage talk about the affair; and as we all started for home in two days, the nine days' wonder died out before its time; and by the next winter, the story that some one had at some time or other slid down from the third-story window by a bedclothes rope, had become quite traditionary, and was handed down to the new scholars as a deed of past ages.

Most of our old boys were back at the Enderby the next year. A little taller and broader we found ourselves. We had gained about a year's allowance of the "vidth and visdom" Mr. Weller speaks of. But we were much the same boys as ever.

There was Harington Stearnes, his fine face browned and his muscles hardened by his summer's work in the open air, but the same earnest, manly fellow, generous, honest, and purposeful as ever. Max Foster, too, with his easy drollery and his hearty good companionship; and Grosvenor Vorse, with his pride and bitterness.

Vorse had the most pride and the meanest kind of pride of any boy I every knew. All the boys said he was pround, and they ought to know. Boys in general are a democratic race, and they rate a fellow pretty fairly by what he is, what he knows, what he can do, and his general way of carrying himself. They are quick to feel the fibre of true manliness, or to detect the want of it in their companions or masters. The judgment of one's schoolmates is unusually a fair and honest one. If you are an unpopular girl or boy in school, look to it; for, ten to one, there is some just cause for it in your own character or manners.

I never knew what Grove Vorse was proud of. Certainly he was a great sham at lessons, and a great shirk at all games involving skill and courage; but he had a share of good looks, and genteel air of birth and breeding that he valued highly. There was money in the family, too; his father drove fast horses, and his mother wore diamonds; and, besides this, the Vorses were an old family, and Grove, I think, cherished an idea that the legendary glories of all the dead-and-buried Vorses hovered like a halo about the head of their last decendant. Perhaps they did. I am not a judge of haloes. I never wore one myself, nor did any of my relations. But I have seen them in pictures, and can't help thinking that it would be a pleasant thing if one could be surrounded by a warm and luminous atmosphere, quite impenetrable by the common ills of humanity. However, poor Grove's halo (if he had one) was of no special service to him in the way of protection, and so it happened that an ugly, malignant disease that was stalking silently and invisibly through the land, walked up the dormitory stairs and straight into his room, and singled him out as a victim.

One morning in January, shortly after the Christmas vacation, Grove Vorse was absent from chapel at morning prayers, and again at eleven o'clock, missing Greek recitation. The master stopped calling the roll and looked around the room.

"Does any one know about Mr. Vorses?"

There was no answer.

"Where does Mr. Vorse room?" he asked.

"In the south dormitory, sir, next door to me," spoke up Harry Stearnes.

"Have you seen him to-day?"

"No, sir."

"Please go to his room, after recitation, and see why he is absent from school exercises."

Grove Vorse was not a sociable fellow; for the most part he preferred his own gracious company to that of any one else, and no one begrudged him the privilege. So he roomed alone, in what was called the tower room, separated from the others by a short flight of stairs and a hall.—Here Harry found him that day, miserably ill. A raging fever was consuming him; his head was dizzy, his eyes blinded and dull. He crawled into bed at dusk, hoping to sleep it off. He had grown steadily worse through the night, and by morning found himself too weak and dizzy to help himself or to summon assistance.

Harry went to work, Good-Samaritan fashion, to cheer up the poor fellow. He threw open the window, for the room was dark and the air foul; then he bathed his head and hands, shook up the pillows and straightened the bedclothes; then he ransacked the closet, and unearthed some crackers and cheese; but the patient turned with an air of disgust from these dainties.

"Don't want them? Don't want anything to eat? that's singular," said Harry. "Well, old fellow, if you are past eating, you are too far gone for my skill."

"Gone? O yes, I'm gone," muttered Grove, half incoherently. "It is dark, isn't it?"

"Well, no; the day light is all right—it is about noontime, and a bright day. I guess it is you that is out of the way. You are a pretty sick customer; and what doctor do you want me to call?"

"Yes—the doctor—any one—I don't know or care, only be quick. Do you suppose I shall die?"

"No, of course you won't. Cheer up, I'll have the doctor here in two minutes and he will make you a well man in less than twenty-four hours. Lie low till I come back:" and Harry was gone.

There is an old proverb, "If you want anything done right, do it yourself."

Harry acted up to the old saw; he did not stop to consult anyone, or to send any one else—he went himself for the physician.

The doctor had a grave and anxious face, as he examined his patient; a professional scowl gatherered on his brow.

"You are young Stearnes, I believe?" he said, at last, turning to Harry.

"Yes, sir."

"Is this your room, or have you been in here long, and over the patient since he was sick?"

"I was sent to see why he was absent from Greek, and found him so. I've been here a couple of hours, and nobody else has been in the room."

"Well, nobody had better be in here. I judge by your looks that you have sense and self-control, Mr. Stearnes, so I will tell you the truth. Unless I am greatly mistaken, this is a case of small pox."

Harry turned white about the mouth, as he heard the last word, but he did not flinch nor tremble. He looked at the old doctor steadily, and balanced the chances of the case, and then said, "If it is that, then I have probably taken the disease."

"I am afraid so. The air is bad. You have been here, you say, two hours; have stood over him, handled him, taken his breath?" said the doctor.

"Yes, sir."

"Then you are just as thoroughly exposed to the disease as if you had been with him for days. You must see no other students. Remain in this room. In a few hours his symptoms will be more decided, and if it turns out as I expect, I must communicate the case to the school authorities, and take measures to prevent the disease spreading."

In the days when I was a boy, the small pox were much more dreaded than now. Exposure to it meant death, or a scarred and changed face for life. It was a terrible thing to be shut up with a small pox patient, as Harry Stearnes was, during the solitary hours that followed the doctor's visit. It was a terrible thing to face the near probabilities of loathsome disease and death.

The afternoon and evening wore slowly away. The doctor made two short visits, and his fears were confirmed. The school authorities were in great panic. The boys themselves knew nothing about it. It was given out that Vorse was very sick and must be kept quiet, and no one was to go near the room, while Stearnes was to watch with him.

An hour past midnight, poor Grosvenor Vorse, too ill to care whether he lived or died, was carried silently down the stairs, placed in a close carriage, and taken to a deserted house, two miles from town, and Harry Stearnes was sent with him.

The true state of the case was known to everybody the next morning, and a great panic prevailed; but the usual precautions were taken to prevent contagion, and no other cases appeared.

But for the two boys quarantined in the lonely house, there were long and terrible weeks of suffering and dread. I used to go each day to a hill in sight of the house, and wave my handkerchief to poor Harry, and I instituted a one-sided correspondence with him, sending letters daily by the doctor, but never getting any answers. The doctor went there two and three times a day, I remember, and a nurse had been hired to attend the patients. This man had had the small pox, and was not afraid of it, which was his only qualification for a nurse. He was ignorant and stupid, and kept himself so muddled with beer that he could not tell the time of day or the doses of medicine.

Grove's father and mother came to Enderby and took lodgings there, and all such comfort and sympathy as could be bought with money and transferred through two miles of space, they freely rendered, and waylaid the doctor continually, and spent money freely. Two or three times each day, when Grove was at the worst, poor Mrs. Vorse used to drive out to within sight of the house and gaze at it through her uncontrollable tears, as if it was the burial place of her boy.

But love nor money nor tears nor skill, could scatter the shadow of death that hung over the lonely house. The terrible spectre of disease held the boy in its clutch; it wrung out his strength; it sent burning fire into his veins; it covered his fair form with loathsomeness. Night and day the spectre stood over him with contagious breath, crying, "Give! give! give! Give me your strength! give me your grace and beauty! give me your life!"

But another stood there. O brave heart and true! Closer than a brother, nearer than father or mother, Harry Stearnes stood by his comrade and fought disease against hope. Night after night, while the recreant attendant lay snoring heavily in his drunken sleep, Harry watched the face of the clock, and with unfailing promptness, with most vigilant care, he followed out the directions of the doctor. It was a long struggle and a hard one, but at last, through the blessing of God, and good nursing, a strong constitution and youth triumphed.

The terrible crisis was passed, and Grosvenor Vorse began to recover. There was great rejoicing and hope, when the glad news went forth, and the tears were tears of joy that day, when Mrs. Vorse drove over the hill, and Grove sat up at the window and waved his handkerchief to her.

Harry Stearnes did not escape without a touch of the loathsome disease, but thanks to vaccination and diet, it was only a slight attack, and Grove, who was getting quite strongthen, cared for him tenderly. And when Harry Stearnes took his old place with us again, three months later, there was no scar or mark on his fine face.

But something came of all this, or I should not be telling this story. It was the day the boys were let out of quarantine—the longest of all their weary days there. The doctor had declared their time of probation over, and had arranged that they should take the stage for home at ten o'clock that night. So in the early dusk they kindled a bonfire of all bedding, clothes, books, and furniture that had been used during their sickness. It was a most jolly bonfire. They built it in an adjoining field, and watched with glee the red flames devour their household stuff.

"Harry," said Grove that night, as they sat watching the fire and listening for the distant rumble of the wheels that were to carry them away; "Harry, I am not naturally a grateful fellow, and what's more, I have never cultivated the accomplishment of seeming grateful. I don't know how to thank you. You see I have been a pig all my days, taking the good things of life as if I had a right to them, and no thanks to any one."

"Well, what of it?" asked Harry.

"A good deal of it."

"But I mean what is coming of it? Get at what you are aiming at, and don't preamble so much."

"You see, Harry—you saved my life—it wasn't worth saving—that's the fact;" and Grove's voice grew husky and choky.

"Nonsense," returned the other. "It was not your time to die."

"Well, you kept it from being my time. If I had been left to that half-tipsy nurse, I should have been dead, and huddled into some wretched hole of earth, instead of standing here to-night, well and streng, with life before me; and it is all you. Don't interrupt me! I must have my say out. It has been on my tongue a thousand times, since we have been shut up together; the last hour has come now, and I must now say it. I did you a great wrong, once; at least I tried to—I meant to. You see I have been selfish and proud all my life. I have always wanted the best things for myself, and I have hated everybody who kept me from getting them. So, you know the night of the prize speaking—you know what happened to you that night—a fellow could not well forget it. It was I who locked your door that evening. I followed you when you went to your room, and did it. I meant to cheat you out of the prize. I meant to get it by fair means or foul. But, thinking of it now, I despise myself for such a mean act. Will you—"

"Yes, I will; of course I will," interrupted Harry; "only don't say any more. There is no sense in going down into such depths of dust and ashes. I shall not think any more about it, and don't you. I am glad you have owned it up, because it was the right thing for you to do; but, to tell the truth, it is no great news to me. I was quite certain it was you all the time; for that night I picked up a glove of yours when I was going back from the dormitory to the church. You wore both gloves when I left you in the church porch, and only one when I saw you afterward. I had my own thoughts about it, but I never said anything then, and now it is all fair and square. Give me your hand."

The boys grasped hands, and they stood silent a moment, then Grove said, with an effort, "Harry, I believe this sickness has been the best thing that ever happened to me; nothing but this struggle for life that we have been through together could have taught me how mean and contemptible my life has been. You saved my life, Harry, and my life is yours. As long as I live I will serve you at need and love you."

"I'll be glad of your love, always, Grove, you know; and as for service, I'd ask anything of you I wanted, and you could render." Harry paused a moment here, then went on. "And, I take it, we are coming to the grand secret of all right living, when we can hold our lives as not our own—as redeemed, or held in trust for the good of men and the glory of God."

The stars looked down upon the two boys, as they stood with clasped hands. The red embers of the fire smoldered and died and left no trace. But the coals of fire that had fallen on the head of Grosvenor Vorse burned down into his heart; they burned up his unworthy aims, his low and selfish desires, and kindled upon their dead ashes a holy fire of frendship and self-devotion."—Little Corporal.

THE WOEFUL LAST PERIOD OF THE SIEGE OF PARIS.—An Englishman writing from the French Capital, thus pictures the prospect:

"The remainder of the siege will be a bitter time. Hitherto real privations have hardly been widely felt. Henceforth we shall be rudely taught the realities of an actual blockade. When the miseries begin in earnest they will spread like wildfire through this immense population. When once any article of food is really wanting it becomes instantly and absolutely unattainable. Dishes vanish suddenly at an hour's notice. A week ago you might get Liebig or pate de foie gras by paying for it; now you might offer a gold bracelet for it in vain. Meat must fail as utterly in a day or two. The rations have long since been a mere mockery. They are not worth the trouble of sending for—an ounce a day—and might much more reasonably have been suspended altogether. They are only kept up as pretexts to meet an outcry of the populace. There is one straw of comfort amid the thought of this starvation and wretchedness, and that is that it will partly, perhaps, cure the Parisians of their desperate gluttonous and luxurious habits. But it is not the luxurious Parisians who are the real sufferers as yet. For a few days these people look all the better for a little lowering diet. But the sick and the delicate have a terrible time of it. Funerals are as common in the streets as cabs. Once attacked by any lowering fever or disorder, there is very little chance for you. And this mischief will fataly increase. As the rich and luxurious begin to realey feel the famine their frames will sink very rapidly under the attacks of fatigue and cold and bad weather. Fortification duty on a rainy night is not so bad after a tolerable dinner, but when it is accompanied by a diet of dry bread and vinordinaire, it is sure to make its victims. There will be dreadful sights in Paris before many days are past. Even a fortnight ahead of us it is now impossible to answer for. We know what quicksand we stand upon with Belleville and La Vilette smouldering like a volcano at our feet. We know what hungre will do with a Parisian populace. It was famine that evoked the fiends of 1792. Famine made even the Grand Monarque almost tremble on his throne. This is the weapon that Bismarck has unsheathed against us—more terrible than all his Krupps or needle guns. Of one thing we may now be confidently assured, that a great sortie must be made. We shall not sit here like prisoners to be cooly starved out by inches in our pretty cages. Paris is thrown on her own resources; she must go out, beat the enemy, or despair and die. Let us hope that the people and their governors will have the sense, the honesty, the magnanimity to accept the issue of one more struggle as conclusive, and not protract for the mere gratification of a false and foolish pride the sufferings of this wretched people. If we were to believe the talk of clubs and tables d'hote, and the boasts and harangues of editors, one would suppose that Paris would end by dying after the last biscuit had been consumed. But I hope that a great battle may decide this melancholy struggle, and that the battle may be decisive enough to leave no hope to the defeated party."

A GOOD story is told of a diminutive mercantile gent, of a neighboring city, who, it is said, recently proposed to a young and boxom damsel, with the following result: "Oh, no," said she, "I can't think of it for a moment. The fact is—you're a little to big to put in a cradle, and you're a little too small to put in a bed." The back hair of the stricken youth has since run to seed.

AN invincible wit and punster asked the captain of a craft laden with boards how he managed to get dinner on the passage. "Why," replied the skipper, "we always cook aboard." "Cook a board, do you?" rejoined the wag. "Then I see you have been well supplied with provisions this trip, at all events."

D. A. BUEHLER, Editor and Business Agent.

Advertisers and others interested will bear in mind that the regular circulation of the "STAR AND SENTINEL" is much larger than that of any other paper published in the County, being read weekly by not less than 11,000 persons.

JANUARY, 1871.

SETTLEMENT OF ACCOUNTS.

Persons indebted to this office for subscription, advertising and job work, will please bear in mind that the first of the year is our time for the general settlement of accounts. Mail subscribers to the STAR AND SENTINEL can easily learn their indebtedness by examining the printed addresses upon the margin of the paper, (as, for instance, "John Smith, 1jan70," shows that there would be a year due on the 1st of January, 1871,) and can remit by mail, sending money orders when convenient. Subscribers in town will please call at the office and settle their dues.

THE U. S. Senate sat all night of Wednesday of last week, the majority being determined to force a vote on the proposition to appoint Commissioners to visit San Domingo and make report as to the propriety of its purchase, as recommended by the President. Senator Sumner, who last season fought and contributed largely to defeat the treaty negotiated for the purchase of the island, was the principal opponent of the proposed commission in Wednesday night's debate. He made an elaborate and of course very able speech in opposition to the whole project, animadverting with a good deal of severity on the President's tenacity in pressing the scheme.—Messrs. Conkling, Edmunds, Morton and Nye replied in defence of the President, other Senators taking part in the protracted debate, pro and con. The discussion was characterized by great ability, and at times was somewhat acrimonious, involving alleged points of veracity between Senator Sumner and the President.

A vote was finally reached at 6 o'clock on Thursday morning, when the resolution was adopted, ayes 31, nays 9. The only Republicans voting in the negative were Messrs. Morrill, of Vermont, Patterson, Schurz, Sumner and Tipton. The Democratic Senators were mostly paired off with Republicans, who preferred not to sit out the session.

The resolution will come up in the House, after the holiday recess, where it will be championed by Gens. Butler and Banks, and will again challenge protracted debate. The proposition now before Congress, is simply to appoint commissioners to investigate and report on the facts, about which these has been a wide divergence of opinion. But the President, who regards the acquisition of San Domingo as a matter of vital importance to the future commercial interests of the country, believes that such investigation will establish the correctness of his views.

THE Pennsylvania Legislature will meet on Tuesday next. We hope to be able to give our readers the Governor's Message in our next issue. The election of Mr. Dechert in the 1st Philadelphia district, gives the Democracy the organization of the Senate. Senator Wallace will probably be elected Speaker, and Jacob Ziegler, Clerk. As the Democracy have not had an opportunity, for some years, to dispense patronage at Harrisburg, there will doubtless be a fierce fight over the minor offices in the Senate, by hungry expectants who have long been denied the privilege of feeding at the public crib.

There will come one good out of the election of Dechert, if nothing else.—For years, the Republican party, being in a majority in both Senate and House, has been held responsible for all the rascality at Harrisburg, although the Democratic members were as deeply in the villainy as any others and constituted a ruling power in the various "rings" which controlled legislation. Hereafter there will be a divided responsibility, and either the "jobs" usually set up during the sessions of the Legislature must fall through, or a Democratic Senate must take its full share of the responsibility for bad legislation.

REV. ALBERT BARNES, of Philadelphia, the distinguished Presbyterian divine and author of the well-known "Barnes' Notes" on the New Testament and portions of the Bible, died suddenly on last Saturday afternoon, in the seventy-second year of his age. He left his residence, No. 4402 Walnut street, about three o'clock on Saturday afternoon, on a visit of condolence to the family of Mrs. Reed, in the Twenty-seventh ward. The distance was over a mile, and he was accompanied by his daughter. He was apparently in excellent health when leaving home, but, on the way, he experienced considerable difficulty in breathing, and was obliged to stop to recover himself. The indisposition soon passed off, and, continuing on, he reached the residence of Mrs. Reed about four o'clock. On entering the parlor, Mr. Barnes at once seated himself to await the presence of some of the household, when he again experienced a difficulty in breathing, and his daughter, noticing the fact, inquired if she could in way give him relief. The father made no response, and, throwing his head back on the chair, expired in a few minutes.

THE great railroad tunnel through Mount Cenis, one of the Alpine ranges, between France and Italy, is nearly completed. On Christmas afternoon, the workmen, working from opposite ends, met and cut through the last barrier of rock. The tunnel was begun by the Emperor Napoleon, when at the height of his power and popularity.

THE Georgia election has resulted in a Democratic triumph. They carry the State by 30,000 majority, elect five of the seven members of Congress, with a majority in both branches of the Legislature. The Republicans complain of frauds, and violence to intimidate colored voters desiring to vote the Republican ticket.

DESPATCHES from Washington represent that there is a prospect of an early adjustment of the fishery controversy between Canada and the United States, the British Government having indicated its disapproval of the harsh measures adopted by the Canadian authorities.

THE Union League of Philadelphia, by the unanimous vote of its directors, has authorized its President, Morton M'Michael, to extend the privileges of the League House to the Republican editors of Pennsylvania for the year 1871.

THE city of Richmond seems to be [illegible] On Christmas morning, about 2 o'clock, the Spottswood Hotel, the finest hotel in the city, took fire, and in twenty minutes the flames had spread so rapidly that escape by the stair cases was cut off for the persons occupying the upper stories. The night was intensely cold, and the plugs froze rendering the fire engines for a while useless. Efforts were immediately made to wake the guests, and the scene became indescribable. Men were rushing about trying to save their baggage, and the women, nearly naked and barefooted, fleeing into the snow-covered streets. The guests in the upper stories commenced leaping from the windows, and lowering themselves by ropes made from blankets, into the streets. P. P. Clark, of Philadelphia, the steward of the hotel, leaped from a third-story window, receiving mortal injuries.

The most painful scene of the disaster was the appearance of Mrs. Emily Kennearly, of Baltimore, the housekeeper, at a window in the fifth story, with one or two other ladies, screaming for help. The fire companies' ladders were put up, but failed by two stories to reach the window. While the firemen were making efforts to lengthen the ladders the crying women disappeared in the thick smoke and were lost, the room brightening up a moment after with the flames.

A. C. Shaffer, the State Printer, who was in the fourth story, escaped by dropping from window cornice to window cornice till he reached the ground safe, though badly burned. A man made his appearance at one of the upper windows paralyzed by fear, tearing paper into small pieces and throwing them out of the window, until he fell back into the flames.

The guests lost all their clothing, and the ladies had to walk bare-footed over the frozen snow, in their night clothes, to reach shelter. About a dozen persons were burned in the ruins, including H. A. Thomas, agent for the panorama of the Pilgrim's Progress; W. H. Pace, of Danville, Va., United States mail agent; J. B. Farris, messenger of the Southern Express Company; Erasmus Ross, clerk of Libby Prison during the war; Mrs. Emily Kennearly, Housekeeper; Samuel W. Robinson, clerk; and Samuel Hines, clerk; others are missing.

The fire communicated to the adjoining block of buildings, all of which were consumed. Loss about $300,000, the Spottswood Hotel alone costing $130,000.

THE news from France this week is meagre. A battle of some magnitude took place on the 23d near Amiens, in the north of France, between the Germans under Gen. Manteuffel and the French under Faidherbe. Both sides claim a victory; but the French, as usual, retreated after the battle, the Germans following up and seizing various French positions thus abandoned. This looks much like a French defeat, although the battle may have been without decisive results. The Germans seized six English ships in the Seine, near Rouen, and sunk them to interfere with the navigation of the river. Their seizure produced considerable sensation in England, and may lead to serious difficulty.

ALTHOUGH Gen. Schenck vacates his seat in Congress to accept the English Mission, his friends have determined to contest the election of Mr. Campbell, his successful competitor for the 3d Ohio district, and last week served a formal notice to that effect. Gen. Schenck was defeated by a rejection of the votes of the inmates of the Soldiers' Home in Dayton, several hundred in number; and it is mainly to determine the question of their right to vote that Campbells' seat is to be contested.

THE President last week formally nominated Gen. Schenck, of Ohio, as Minister to England. He was unanimously confirmed by the Senate without the formality of a reference, a compliment rarely paid except to ex-Senators. It seems to be generally conceded that Gen. Schenck will make an able representative at the English Court.

SCARLET FEVER.

Increase of the Disease—An Ounce of Prevention.

At this season of the year scarlet fever is apt to assume an epidemic form, and already the weekly reports of the New York S[illegible] shows a very [illegible] in the number of deaths [illegible]. If, as we are told, the [illegible] of mortality in scarlet fever [illegible] to twelve, it would seem probable that even more cases occur than are reported to the Board of Health. As a means of lessening the spread of the highly contagious disease, the Medical Gazette publishes the subjoined precautions which have been satisfactorily tested in England in a very large number of instances:

DIRECTIONS.

1. On the first appearance of the disease the patient should be placed in a separate apartment, as near the top of the house as possible, from which all curtains, carpets, bed hangings, and other needless articles of furniture should be removed, and no person except the medical attendant and the nurse or mother permitted to enter the room. 2. A basin containing a solution of chloride of lime or carbolic acid should be placed near the bed for the patient to spit in. 3. A large vessel containing water, into which has been poured either Condy's fluid or the solution of chloride of soda or lime, should be kept in the room, and into this all the bed and body linen, as soon as it is removed from the patient, and all soiled towels, &c., should be placed; having been kept there for some time, the things may be removed and sent to the laundress. 4. Pocket handkerchiefs should not be used, but pieces of rag employed instead, for wiping the mouth and nose of the patient; each piece, after being used, should be immediately burned. 5. A plentiful supply of water and towels should be kept for the use of the nurse, whose hands of necessity will become soiled by the secretions of the patient; in one hand basin the water should be impregnated with Condy's fluid or chlorides, by which the taint on the hands may be at once removed. 6. All glasses, cups, plates, or other vessels used in the sick room should be scrupulously cleansed in boiling water, before being used by other persons. 7. Outside the door of the sick chamber a sheet should be suspended so as to cover the entire doorway; this should be kept constantly wet with a solution of carbolic acid or chloride of lime. The effect of this will be to keep every other part of the house free from infection. 8. The discharges from the bowels and kidneys of the patient should be received into vessels charged with disinfectants, such as the solution of carbolic acid or chloride of lime, and immediately removed.

By these means, the poison thrown off from internal surface may be rendered inert, and deprived of the power of propagating the disease. 9. The thin skin or cuticle which peels off from the hands, face, and other parts of the body in convalescent patients, is highly contagious. The plan recommended for preventing the poison from the skin begin disseminated through the air is to rub oil or lard all over the skin. This practice is to commence on the fourth day after the appearance of the eruption, and to be continued every day until the patient is well enough to take a warm bath. These baths should be administered every other day four times, when the disinfection of the skin may be regarded as complete. This, however, should not be done without first consulting the medical attendant. The foregoing directions will apply to all kinds of fever, small-pox, and other contagious diseases.

MODE OF DISINFECTING A SICK ROOM.

The patient having been removed, all linen articles, such as sheets, towels, pillow-cases, and body linen, are to be disinfected as by direction No. 3. This done the blankets, counterpanes, and woollen articles of clothing are to be suspended on lines, and the mattresses and beds placed over the backs of chairs, the windows closed, and paper pasted over the crevices, the chimney opening of the fireplace is also to be effectually stopped up. An old saucepan lid or other open iron vessel is next to be placed in the middle of the room, into which a quarter of a pound of stone brimstone, broken into pieces, is to be put; the brimstone is then to be ignited, and the person who does it must immediately leave the apartment, close the door, and paste paper over the crevices. At the expiration of twenty-four hours the room may be entered, and the door and windows thrown open to allow the fumes of sulphur to escape. By this process the room and everything in it may be considered to have been thoroughly disinfected.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ANNIVERSARY.

MR. EDITOR:—I am but expressing the unanimous opinion of the very large audience which greeted our amateur singers at the Lutheran Church of New Oxford, on Thursday evening last, when I say that the entertainment was an exceedingly fine one, creditable alike to the performers and to our town. The order of the exercises was as follows:—Singing by the School, then prayer by Rev. W. F. P. Davis. The school then sang: "We come with glad acclaim," after which the Superintendent read a portion of the second chapter of St. Luke. The school then sang "In a Manger," &c., when the superintendent read the Report of the school, complimenting the scholars, teachers, &c., speaking of the past, present, and future of the school. The school then sang the "Sunday School Volunteer Song," after which the Rev. Wm. M. Baum, D. D., of York, addressed the school in his usual happy style, suited for children; occasionally, however, he would tramp on the toes of others, not as Paddy did, but to wake them up to a sense of duty, &c. The school sang, "Give! Oh, Give!" A collection was then held for the school, the proceeds (about $38 50,) to be applied to a new library purchased. The school again sang the "Christian Freedom Song," but then there was a nut to crack—quite different from the one the Rev. Dr. Baum cracked. Mr. Paul Hersh, with his "KECHARISMENOS" speech, finally cracked the nut, and out came a Library of the most beautiful books imaginable, and after concluding his remarks, Dr. Krumrine stepped out, received the present, and handed the same over to the school and scholars, after addressing them on the subject of Sunday School, its privileges and advantages. The school again rose, and after singing "Watch and Pray," the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Baum. The school then sang "Good Night," when the audience left the church, no doubt well pleased with the evenings entertainment.

The singing was lead by Mr. Paul Hersh, and it was the place for all who love to hear children sing and see them happy. I would be glad to speak of the matter more in detail, but time and space forbid. I have heard the wish expressed several times, that our Sunday Schools would give us an entertainment of this kind every three or six months, and I join in that wish myself.

A FRIEND OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

NEW OXFORD, Dec. 24, 1870.

THE third of January has been fixed as the day for the first meeting of the conference on the Eastern Question.

[For the Star and Sentinel.

CHRISTMAS ANNIVERSARY OF THE REFORMED SUNDAY SCHOOL OF NEW OXFORD.

The Sunday School attached to the Reformed Church of New Oxford, Adams county, Pa., Rev. W. F. P. Davis, Pastor, held its anniversary on Sunday evening last, December 25, 1870. A rare entertainment was enjoyed by the visitors, of which a large number of both sexes were present, and all seemed to enjoy themselves in a high degree. The decoration was very attractive and creditable to those engaged in the enterprise.

The exercises opened with singing "Home of the Soul," then the regular Christmas services prepared for Sunday Schools for the Church was used. The School then sang "Gloria in Excelsis," after which the Gospel lesson for the day was read by the Pastor and the School sang "Hark, what mean those holy voices?" after which the Pastor with the School engaged in prayer according to the prescribed form; next singing by the School, "Battling for the Lord."

An address was then delivered by the Rev. Mr. Davis, who dwelt on the symbolic character of the decorations. The sides of the gallery were decorated by the suspension of Evergreens in each of which was one of the names of the Saviour. To the left of the Christmas tree, which was the centre of attraction to the children in virtue of the presents thereon, was suspended the first wreath. On the diameter was the appropriate inscription in guilded letters, "OUR LORD," indicating that it is through Him we find access to a throne of grace, who now dwells in eternity; while the wreath was an emblem of perishable things. So he, who was born in Bethlehem on Christmas day, took upon himself flesh and blood, which must return whence it came.

Between the first and second wreaths was suspended the Apostle's Creed, handsomely decorated with evergreens. In the second wreath was the name JESUS. This was the name given the Saviour by the Angel, at the first announcement to the Virgin Mary, that a son should be born of her whose name should be JESUS. The intelligence came to Mary by a messenger from Heaven, who dwells in Eternity, of which the wreath reminds the observer.

The wreath contained the Saviour's official name, CHRIST, which means anointed or consecrated by the Father at his baptism. In the middle of the rear gallery was suspended a handsomely ornamented motto, "God bless our Sunday School." The next three wreaths contained, in their proper order, the prophetic as well as official names of Christ. All Prophets in the old Testament were special agents of Jehovah to declare God's will to his people. So the Saviour as Prophet was a special agent or teacher sent from God—but differed greatly from the former Prophets in this respect. His message was not only from Heaven but he himself was from the bosom of the Father. And instead of offering victims for sin on Jewish Altars—HE offered himself upon (the Cross) the altar of God as the Lamb of God for the sin of the whole world.

On the same side of the gallery, between the wreaths containing Priest and King, was suspended the Lord's Prayer. This, as well as all the wreaths, was handsomely decorated and chimes in with the idea of eternity, which runs through all the decorations in a true churchly way. This now leads us back with the eye of faith to the Manger in Bethlehem in which the infant Saviour was born. On the gallery, between the two columns entwined with ever-greens, was suspended a large and beautiful Star, decorated with box-wood, representing the Star of Bethlehem. This star was lit up so as to cast a beautiful halo of light upon a large green cross in the altar, upon which was inscribed, in large guilded letters, "Jesus Christ is born in Bethlehem."

An arch spanned the Church above the pulpit from gallery to gallery, with the beautiful inscription as sung by the angelic host on Christmas morn, "Glory to God in the Highest, on Earth Peace and Good Will toward Men." The lettering was made of box-wood, most beautifully arranged and artistically executed.

Dr. McClure, the superintendent of the School, followed with appropriate remarks, congratulating the School, which should be thankful to God for the preservation of the lives of the scholars, and the propitious smiles of heaven in the perpetuation of the School, and for the permission once more to meet under circumstances of so much mercy: not one soul died during the year, of the school.

The bestowing of gifts upon the scholars, from the Christmas tree so bountifully loaded, took place, the children coming forward as their names were called to receive them, their bright happy faces indicating the pleasure with which they greeted this feature of the celebration.

The children during the year made a liberal contribution to the Orphans at Womelsdorff, and during the evening a collection was taken up for the same purpose.

The School them sang, "Hark the Glad sound, the Saviour's come." Then after some remarks by the Pastor, the "Doxology" was sung, the Benediction pronounced, and the School sang in conclusion, the "Christmas Anthem."

NEWS OF NEIGHBORING COUNTIES.

CUMBERLAND.—On Sunday morning, the 18th inst., one of the domestics living with Samuel Sharpe, in Newton township, went to the barn to milk the cows, when a strolling vagabond, who had slept in the barn over night, seized her and made an attempt to outrage her person, threatening to kill her if she made resistance. Her screams brought Mr. Sharpe to her aid, when the villain fled across the fields. When Mr. Sharpe reached the barn, he found the girl almost exhausted by her struggles, and the hay-mow in flames. The barn, with contents, was destroyed, including three horses, ten head of cattle, with grain, farming implements, &c. A party of neighbors followed the villain, and over-hauled him at Shippensburg. He gave his name as Peter O'Rorke. He is now in the Carlisle jail.

FRANKLIN.—The Rev. Mr. Geddes, of Williamsport, Pa., has accepted a call to the Presbyterian congregation of Waynesboro.—The congregation worshipping in the Lutheran Church, Mercersburg, on Sunday a week, were more or less affected by coal gas, resulting from a defective flue; some being carried out insensible.—John Gelwicks, of Chambersburg, had his leg broken on Monday, while playfully tusseling with some comrades.—Herman House, of Mercersburg, fell from a scaffold on the 17th inst., breaking three of his ribs.

YORK.—John Overmiller has been appointed Post Master at Logansville, vice William Snyder, resigned.—A son of Postmaster Geipe, at Glen Rock, aged 15 years, broke his arm while playing at school, last week.—A son of Henry Swartz, of Seven Valley, aged 10 years, was killed on the 12th while driving a horse with a load of Iron ore from the mines.—On Friday night a wild-cat, 2½ feet long, was killed on the farm of Henry Welsh, near York.—Miss Beltz, sister of the wife of Col. J. A. Stable, York, was found dead in her bed on Thursday morning; she had retired the night before in usual health.—Christian Hershey, of Hanover, broke his arm last week, while jumping from a wagon.

NEW BLANKS.—We have now on hand a full assortment of newly printed Blanks for Justices of the Peace, including Informations, Warrants, Commitments, Summonses, Subpœnas, Executions, &c. Also Sale Notes, Negotiable Notes, Judgment Notes, &c., with and without waver clauses, School Warrants, School Statements, Contracts with Teachers, &c. Orders promptly filled.

THE BREVITY OF LIFE.

"'Tis not for man to trifle, life is brief.
Our age is but the falling of a leaf.
We have no time to sport away the hours,
All must be earnest in a world like ours.
Not many lives, but one have we,
How sacred should that one be."

And still how many fritter away their lives, unable to fill any useful purpose, because some lingering disease unfits them for it, and they neglect or refuse to use the remedies within their reach. God in his wonderful arrangement of nature has provided an antidote for all the ills that human flesh is heir to, and by the aid of science the medicinal virtues of certain herbs, roots and barks have been combined and the result is known all over the civilized world as MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS. It thoroughly purifies the blood, invigorates the nervous fibres, elevates the standard of all the vital forces, and sustains a most healthful tone of the entire human organization. ROSADALIS

THE GREAT AMERICAN HEALTH RESTORER, purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Diseases of Women, and all Chronic Affections of the Blood, Liver and Kidneys. Recommended by the Medical Faculty and many thousands of our best citizens.

Read the testimony of Physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis; send for our Rosadalis Guide to Health Book, or Almanac for this year, which we publish for gratuitous distribution; it will give you much valuable information.

Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore, says:

I take pleasure in recommending your ROSADALIS as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.

Dr. Sparks, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he has used Rosadalis in cases of scrofula and Secondary Syphilis with satisfactory results—as a cleaner of the Blood I know no better remedy.

Samuel G. M'Fadden, Murfreesboro', Tenn., says:

I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother who has scrofulous sore eyes.

Benjamin Bechtol, of Lima, Ohio, writes, I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my whole body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure.

CHRISTMAS.—Our exchanges come us this week with copious accounts Christmas observances in all parts of t country. While the Puritan Thanksgiv ing becomes a national festival, the Ge man Christmas festival is working its wa into the heart of New England. Our cit exchanges give full reports of sermo delivered in the pulpits of all denomina tions on Sunday, bearing on the Saviour advent.

In Gettysburg, the day was observed a usual, with special exercises on Sunda in the different churches, and by a closin of places of business on Monday.

On Christmas eve, the Reformed Sun day School held its usual celebration. Two large trees had been put up in th church, handsomely decorated and bril liantly lighted with numerous candles. After the usual liturgical exercises, gift were interchanged between scholars and teachers, through the pastor Rev. Mr Deatrich. The latter was presented with a Sewing Machine, by members of the congregation.

The same evening the Methodist Sun day School met in their church, around beautiful Christmas tree, and had a plea ant time in exchanging gifts.

On Sunday morning the pulpit o Christ's Church was occupied by Rev. D Brown, who delivered an able discours on Luke 2: 15. As the sheperds, after th angelic announcement, prepared to g to Bethlehem, "to see this thing which i come to pass," Dr. B. invited his hearer to a consideration of the mission and tru nature of Christ, as God-man, in the mys terious blending of the divine and human.

In the afternoon, the Sunday Schoo of Christ's Church had special exercises, Prof. Martin, Prof. Baugher, and Dr. Hay delivering addresses.

The Catholic Church was lighted with gas for the first time on Sunday night, and presented a fine appearance. The altar, as usual at Christmas, was decorated with greens and lighted up with numerous candles. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Boll, conducted the usual Vesper services, and was followed by Rev. E. Terry, Professor of Theology at Mt. St. Mary's College; in an interesting discourse based on Luke 2:12, in which he vividly portrayed the religious and social degradation of the world at the time of the birth of Christ, and the need of a Redeemer and Saviour. During the Benediction, [illegible] of gas jets sprung over the Tabernacle was lighted, throwing a brilliant flood of light over the altar.

COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The Adams County Teachers' Association met in the Court-House on Monday afternoon, and was called to order by Mr. Wert, the County Superintendent, who called on Rev. Mr. Breidenbaugh to open the session with prayer. After singing, and reading the minutes of last year's Convention, the roll was called, 88 Teachers responding. A number subsequently reported, making the aggregate attendance larger than usual. As we go to press while the Institute is in session, we must content ourselves with a brief summary of its doings.

Mr. Wert welcomed the Convention in a pertinent address, and then announced the following Committees, viz:

On Resolutions—Aaron Sheely, P. D. W. Hankey, Peter Kready, Martha A. Warren, Jennie Hamilton.

Organization.—Wm. Currens, Mary McGrew, Mary J. McCreary.

Social Intercourse.—W. Howard Dicks, H. O. Harner, Annie M. Byers, Beckie Day, Paul Hersh, Blanch Cook, Sue Bushey.

Music.—J. L. Kittinger, S. Ellen Carey, Lizzie Essick, Aaron Sheely, Wm. Currens.

J. F. McCreary was elected President; J. Curtis Hildebrand and H. O. Harner Secretaries; Sallie P. Frey and Rachael Wright Assistant Secretaries; J. Howard Wert Treasurer.

After arranging the programme of daily business, Mrs. Annie T. Randall was introduced and gave her first elocutionary lecture. Mrs. R. has special capacity as an elocutionist, a good voice, with easy modulation, and pleasant delivery.

At the evening session 104 Teachers responded to roll call. The Court-House was filled to hear Prof. Ferrier's lecture on "The Faculty of Attention." We need hardly say that was a scholarly production, abounding in good points, classic illustrations, and forcible suggestions to educators. The lecture was greeted with a storm of applause.

TUESDAY.—The morning session was opened with prayer by Prof. Ferrier. J. Curtis Hildebrand, Martha A. Warren, Ollie J. Peters, Jennie Hamilton and Mary McGrew, were elected a Committee on Permanent Certificates.

The question, "How can we be awaken an interest in our Common Schools?" was discussed by Mr. Sheely; after which Prof. Ferrier gave a blackboard exercise on Words.

G. L. H. Grammar read an essay on "Music in Common Schools," Mrs. Randall following with an elocutionary drill.

At the afternoon session, Mr. Sheely reported a series of resolutions on the death of Samuel Winrott, which were unanimously adopted. Messrs. Sheely, Harner and Currens were appointed to prepare a biographical sketch of the deceased, and report at the next annual meeting. Prof. Ferrier gave another talk on Words. J. A. R. McBride discussed the question, "Should applicants for Permanent Certificates be examined?" H. T. Williams read an essay on "The Responsibility of the Teacher," and P. D. W. Hankey on "Reading as a Mental Culture."

The roll call showed 135 Teachers present at this session,

At night an Elocutionary Entertainment was given by Mrs. Randall to a crowded house, the music being furnished by the Littlestown Orchestra.

WEDNESDAY.—The morning session was opened with prayer by H. T. Williams.—Mr. Sheely tendered his resignation as a member of the Committee on Resolutions. Prof. Montgomery, of Millersville, was introduced and gave instruction in Penmanship. Miss Carrie McMillan read an essay on the "Cultivation of Esthic" in Common Schools, followed by an elocutionary drill by Mrs. Randall.

At the afternoon session the propriety of forming an Alumni Association, was discussed by Messrs. Hankey, Heilicker and Sheely. P. D. W. Hankey, Maria Thompson, Kate Miley, Mr. Seabrooks and Mr. Chamberlain, were appointed a Committee to report on the subject. H. N. Minnigh was appointed on the Committee on Resolutions, vice Mr. Sheely resigned. Prof. Montgomery gave another lesson in Penmanship, Mrs. Randall following with another elocutionary drill and reading.

At the night session Miss Ollie E. Chronister read an essay on "Teachers' Seedtime and Harvest." Prof. Montgomery delivered an address on "God, as seen in American History." The session closed with several recitations by Mrs. Randall.

THE NIGHT AFTER CHRISTMAS.

FROM PUNCH.

'Twas the night after Christmas, when all through the house
Every soul was abed, and still as a mouse;
Those stockings so late in St. Nicholas' sare
Were empty of all that was eatable there;
The darlings had duly been tucked in their beds,
With very full stomachs, and pains in their heads;
I was dozing away in my new cotton cap,
And Nancy was rather far gone in a nap,
When out in the nursery rose such a clatter,
I sprang from my sleep, crying, "What is the matter?"
I flew to each bedside—still half in a doze—
Tore open the curtains, and threw off the clothes;
While the light of the taper served clearly to show
The piteous plight of those objects below:
For what to the fond father's eyes shuld appear
But the little pale face of each little dear!
For each pet that had crammed itself full as a tick
I knew in a moment now felt like old Nick.
Their pulses were rapid, their breathings the same;
What their stomachs ejected I'll mention by name:
Now turkey, now stuffing, plum-pudding, of course,
And custards, and crullers, and cranberry sauce;
Before outraged nature all went to the wall,
Yes, lollypops, flapdoodle, dinner and all.
Like pellets which urchins from popguns let fly
Went figs, nuts, and rasins, jam, jelly, and pie;
Till each error of diet was brought to my view,
To the shame of mamma and Santa Claus too.
I turned from the sight, to my bedroom stepped back,
And brought out a vial marked "Pulv. Ipecac.;"
When my Nancy exclaimed; for their sufferings shocked her,
"Don't you think you had better, love, run for a doctor?"
I ran; and was scarcely back under my roof
When I heard the sharp clatter of old Jalap's hoof:
I might say that I scarcely had turned myself round
When the Doctor came into the room with a bound.
He was covered with mud from his head to his foot,
And the suit he had on was his very worst suit;
He hardly had time to put that on his back,
And he looked like a Falstaff half fuddled with sack;
His eyes, how they twinkled! Had the Doctor got merry?
His lips looked like port, and his breath smelt like sherry.
He hadn't been shaved for a fortnight or so,
And the beard on his chin wasn't white as the snow.
But, inspecting their tongues, in spite of their teeth,
And drawing his watch from his waistcoat beneath,
He felt of each pulse, saying, "Each little belly
Must get rid"—here he laughed—"of the rest of that jelly."
I gazed on each chubby, plump, sick little elf,
And groaned when he said so, in spite of myself;
But a wink of his eye, when he physicked our Fred,
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread.
He didn't prescribe: but went straightway to work,
And dosed all the rest—gave his trowsers a jerk—
And, adding directions while blowing his nose,
He buttoned his coat, from his chair he arose,
Then jumped in his gig, gave old Jalap a whistle,
And Jalap dashed off as if pricked by a thistle;
But the Doctor exclaimed, ere he drove out of sight,
"They'll be well by to-morrow; good-night, Jones, good-night."

LOOK HERE.—E. Woodward has commenced, in connection with his Gunsmithing, the repairing of Umbrellas, Parasols, &c., which he will warrant to be better fixed than is done by the majority of Umbrella-menders. Any person wishing work done in this line can leave word at his shop on Carlisle Street, and it will be sent for and returned. Charges moderate. He also has still on hand a variety of Battle-field Relics, of any kind and style, a large assortment of Canes, &c., Call and see him. tf

RUSSELL.—On the 20th inst., at Bedford Pa., Hon. James M. Russel, in the 85th year of his age. Deceased was a son of Alexander Russell, Esq., deceased, and the oldest brother of Hon. Samuel R. Russell, of Gettysburg. He was born in York, Penna., on the 10th of November 1786; removed thence with his father, to Adams county, and after completing his education, went to Chambersburg and entered the law office of his uncle, James Riddle, Esq. He prosecuted his studies until November 1807, when he was admitted to the Bar. Soon after that time, early in 1808, he removed to Bedford, and at once entered upon the practice of his profession to which he diligently devoted himself with marked assiduity ranking with the ablest members of the Bar.—He represented Bedford county in the constitutional convention of 1838, and subsequently represented the Bedford district in Congress.

SHARPE.—At the residence of Mrs. S. Fahnestock in this place, on 27th inst. Elizabeth Sharpe, aged about 75 years. The deceased was born in Germany, and about the year 1800 her parents took passage on board an emigrant ship for this country, both dying on the vessel. Jacob Fahnestock of Abbottstown, (father of the late Samuel Fahnestock, of this place,) purchased the orphaned child from the captain of the ship, by paying the passage money, in accordance with the custom of that period. Elizabeth lived with Jacob Fahnestock until the marriage of his son Samuel, when she took up her residence with the latter, and has continued ever since in the family, excepting a few years service in the family of the Rev. Dr. Krauth, decd., and was familiarly known among the younger folks as Aunt Betsey. She had accumulated a few hundred dollars, which, we understand, she bequeathed to Christ's (Lutheran) Church of this place, of which she was a member.

THE CUCUMBER WOOD

PUMP!!

One dozen reasons why this is the best Pump manufactured in America for

WELLS AND CISTERNS.

1. It is Simple. 2. It is Reliable. 3. It is Durable. 4. It Works very Easily. 5. It throws Water Rapidly. 6. It is all Wood. 7. The Wood is Tasteless. 8. It does not Crack in the Sun. 9. It is not liable to get out of order. 10. Should any repairs be necessary in time, they can easily be made by any person. 11. It will not freeze. 12. It is Cheaper than any other reliable Pump manufactured.

Balding's Double Acting Glass Cylinder

FORCE PUMP,

With glass cylinder, and hence no rust and little or no friction—cannot freeze—and admirably adapted for Sprinkling Gardens, Washing Windows, Extinguishing Fires, Elevating Water, &c.,—believed to be without an equal for durability, economy and convenience.

Having purchased the exclusive right for Adams county, persons requiring Pumps for wells or cisterns, can have them furnished all complete and ready for use by sending the depth of the well or cistern. Satisfaction guaranteed in all cases or no payment required.

Orders by mail or otherwise promptly attended to.

THE GREAT

Baltimore Piano Manufactory.

WILLIAM KNABE & CO.,

Manufacturers of

GRAND, SQUARE AND UPRIGHT

PIANO FORTES,

BALTIMORE, MD.

These Instruments have been before the public for nearly Thirty years, and upon their excellence alone attained an unpurchased pre-eminence, which pronounces them unequalled. Their combines great power, sweetness and fine signing quality, as well as great purity of Intonation, and sweetness throughout the entire scale. Their is pliant and elastic, and entirely free from the stiffness found in so many Pianos.

TONE

IN WORKMANSHIP

they are unequalled, using none but the very best SEASONED MATERIAL, the large capital employed in our business enabling us to keep continually an immense stock of lumber, &c., on hand.

☞ All our SQUARE PIANOS have our New Improved Overstrung Scale and the AGRAFFE TREBLE.

☞ We would call special attention to our late improvements in GRAND PIANOS and SQUARE GRANDS; Patented Aug. 14, 1866, which bring the Piano nearer perfection than has yet been attained.

Every Piano fully Warranted for 5 Years.

Schomacker & Co.'s Pianos.

Great Sale of first-class Rosewood Pianos at Prices below the Actual Cost to Manufacture.

Having determined to offer our extensive stock of superior and highly-finished Rosewood Pianos at prices below the actual cost to manufacture, we will sell, during the month of December, at the following great reductions, in order to close out our large stock by the end of the year.

No. 1. 7 octave, front round corners, carved legs, $500 for $350.
No. 2. 7 octave, four round corners, carved legs, $550 for $400.
No. 3. 7 octave, front round corners, serpentine case, $550 for $400.
No. 4. 7 octave, four round corners, serpentine case, $600 for $425.
No. 5. 7 octave, four round corners, moulding case, $700 for $475.
No. 6. 7¼ octave, four round corners, moulding case, $750 for $500.
No. 7. 7¼ octave, Square Grand, richly carved case, $800 for $550.
No. 1. 7 octave Upright or Cabinet Piano $600 for $400.
No. 2. 7 octave Upright or Cabinet Piano $700 for $450.
No. 3. 7¼ octave Upright or Cabinet Piano $800 for $500.
No. 1. 7¼ octave Semi-Grand Piano $900 for $600.
No. 2. 7¼ octave Three-quarter Grand Piano $1000 for $700.
No. 3. 7¼ octave Full Concert Grand Piano $1200 for $800.

The reputation of these first-class instruments makes it necessary for us to say a word in their favor. They are universally acknowledged to be superior to any instrument made.

Those wishing to purchase, or desiring to make CHRISTMAS PRESENTS, will find that our special and extraordinary reduction of prices will enable them to obtain at a price even less than a second-rate, or inferior one would otherwise cost them.

Those wanting bargains should not fail to call at our Warerooms, No. 1103 Chestnut Street, and examine our large stock, where they will be readily convinced of the superiority of these Pianos, and the sacrifice at which we are offering them.

"UNQUESTIONABLY THE BEST SUSTAINED WORK OF THE KIND IN THE WORLD."

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

No more delightful travels are printed in the English language than appear perpetually in Harper's Magazine. They are read with equal interest and satisfaction by boys of every grade from eighteen to eighty. Its scientific papers, while sufficiently profound to demand the attention of the learned, are yet admirably adapted to the popular understanding, and designed as much to diffuse correct information concerning current scientific discovery as it could be if it was the organ of the "Society for the Diffusion of Useful Knowledge." The great design of Harper's is to give correct information and rational amusement to the great masses of the people. There are few intelligent American families in which Harper's Magazine would not be an appreciated and highly-welcome guest. There is no monthly Magazine an intelligent reading family can less afford to be without. Many Magazines are accumulated.—Harper's is edited. There is not a Magazine that is printed which shows more intelligent pains expended on its articles and mechanical execution. There is not a cheaper Magazine published.—There is not, confessedly, a more popular Magazine in the world.—New England Homestead.

It is one of the wonders of journalism—the editorial management of Harper's.—The Nation, N. Y.

The best publication of its class in America, and so far ahead of all other weekly journals as not to permit of any comparison between it and any of their number. Its columns contain the finest collections of reading-matter that are printed. * * * Its illustrations are numerous and beautiful, being furnished by the chief artists of the country.—Boston Traveler.

Harper's Weekly is the best and most interesting illustrated newspaper. Nor does its value depend on its illustrations alone. Its reading-matter is of a high order of literary merit—varied, instructive, entertaining, and unexceptionable.—N. Y. Sun.

HARPER'S BAZAR.

A supplement containing numerous full-sized patterns of useful articles accompanies the paper every fortnight.

Harper's Bazar contains 16 folio pages of the size of Harper's Weekly, printed on superfine calendered paper, and is published weekly.

NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

Harper's Bazar contains, besides pictures, patterns, etc., a variety of matter of especial use and interest to the family; articles on health, dress, and housekeeping in all its branches; its editorial matter is specially adapted to the circle it is intended to interest and instruct; and it has, besides, good stories and literary matter of merit. It is not surprising that the journal, with such features, has achieved in a short time an immense success; for something of its kind was desired in thousands of families, and its publishers have filled the demand. The young lady who buys a single number of Harper's Bazar is made a subscriber for life.—New York Evening Post.

The Bazar is excellent. Like all the periodicals which the Harpers publish, it is almost ideally well edited, and the class of readers for whom it is intended—the mothers and daughters in average families—can not but profit by its good sense and good taste, which, we have no doubt, are to-day making very many homes happier than they may have been before the women began taking lessons in personal and household and social management from this good-natured mentor.—*The Nation, N. Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR ALL THE PUPOSES OF A

LAXATIVE MEDICINE.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For DYSPEPSIA or INDIGESTION, LISTLESSNESS, LANGUOR and LOSS OF APPETITE, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For LIVER COMPLAINT and its various symptoms, BILIOUS HEADACHE, SICK HEADACHE, JAUNDICE or GREEN SICKNESS, BILIOUS COLIC and BILIOUS FEVERS, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For DYSENTERY or DIARRHOEA, but one mild dose is generally required.

For RHEUMATISM, GOUT, GRAVEL, PALPITATION OF THE HEART, PAIN IN THE SIDE, BACK and LOINS, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For DROPSY and DROPSICAL SWELLINGS they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For SUPPRESSION a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Farm, Garden & Household.

A RURAL WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE.

Reading the articles from the "troubled MARTHAS," I thought my own experience might, perhaps, be of profit to some of them. A farmer's daughter in the free West, of delicate health, inheriting from my parents an intense desire for an education, and blessed with an older brother, whose greatest pleasure was in humoring my caprices, I grew to womanhood, knowing very little of the care and labor of farm work. After finishing a course of study, and receiving the long-coveted diploma, I confess, with shame, that I imbibed the too popular opinion that I was entirely unfitted for the tiresome routine of domestic duties on a farm; and as for a "farmer's wife," the idea was too preposterous to be for a moment entertained. Various plans were formed for my future course. At one time I was on the eve of going South to teach the freedmen, but the arrangements failed: then I was offered a situation as a teacher in Illinois, but the letter was delayed until too late, so the fall after closing my studies found me in a neighboring village, in charge of the Land Department of the Union School. About the same time a young gentleman came from the East to engage in mercantile pursuits in his uncle's store, and being interviewed by one of the members of our Literary Club, he was considered of sufficient mental calibre to make him a desirable addition. He was, accordingly, invited to join our body; thus thrown together, we became friends. The principal of the school not desiring to remain the next term, I was offered the position; I accepted it, and so remained, although almost against my will.

Meantime the young gentleman before mentioned became more attentive, and, after nearly two years' acquaintance, was my accepted suitor. I now congratulated myself upon soon bidding adieu to farm life. A few months later my affianced received a telegram calling him home to attend the funeral of his brother. In a few days a letter came making a sad wreck of my hopes. He was the only remaining one of seven children, his father insisted upon his coming home to take charge of the farm, and he wrote asking me if I would be a "farmer's wife." I had gone too far to retreat. Besides, as I had never been forty miles from home, the prospect of a trip to New York was decidely agreeable.

A hasty wedding, a short visit at Cleveland, and a few weeks later found me installed as mistress in a farm house. Cookery I was ignorant of. Butter making was foreign to all my notions, and so on to the end of the catalogue.—However, with a husband blind to my faults; and ready to lend a helping hand—one who took care of his old boots, hung up his old clothes, milked, strained milk, churned, brought wood and water, built fires and put on kettles, I soon found there were pleasures I had not dreamed of in being a "farmer's wife;" that I did not know too much, but altogether too little, to fill the station I was called to occupy; and after nearly three years experience, my preconceived notions to the contrary, I have about decided that with a husband like mine, farming is a very pleasant occupation.

I think it is in the power of farmers and their wives to make farm life and farm home so attractive that public opinion will change, and the name of farmers cease to be a reproach. They should educate their children mentally, morally, physically, and in domestic duties; teaching brothers to lend a helping hand to sisters, and thus learn chivalry and gallantry at home. Then "troubled MARTHAS" will cease, and the farms of to-day be converted into Edens of pleasure, profit and contentment.—MRS. PERRY GUMAER.—Rural N. Yorker.

HOW TO FATTEN POULTRY.—The mode of fattening fowls practiced generally in France is given in the translation taken from the Journal d' Agriculture.

The best nourishment for fattening poultry is oat meal or fresh barley soaked in milk or warm water. One ought to give shut-up fowls three meals a day; the first at day break, the second at noon, the third at the time they are going to roost. There is no advantage in giving them more than they can eat; after they cease eating the remainder should be picked up and given to other fowls, for if it is allowed to remain it will become sour, and therefor no longer fit for them. The vessel in which they are fed should be cleansed thoroughly every day, with warm water. In addition to their food, they should be supplied with an abundance of fresh water daily, also, some gravel, for without the latter, the action of the gizzard becomes more or less inactive, thereby impairing digestion. A little green grass, chopped cabbage, or even turnip will not do bad. In order to excite the appetite of the fowls, the diet should be varied by giving a little grain occasionally. Some allow grain to remain in the feed vessels all the time. A little mutton suit mixed with their meal will aid very much to produce the desired fatness. By this method can be fattened perfectly in two or three weeks, and soon as fattened sufficiently should be sold or killed, for if one tries to keep them in this state for a long time, and continues to feed them in the above manner they will be seized with inflammation.

SALTING COWS.—William Egger, of Lowville, N. Y., a Swiss dairyman, says, in the Rural New Yorker, that cows should be salted every morning, and if in the stable, before foddering, but never after taking water. This is the practice of the best stock keepers in Switzerland and he thinks much preferable to salting them once or twice a week, or to keeping it constantly within their reach.

DON'T WASTE BONES.—Every family should provide a barrel or box for receiving chicken bones, fish bones, and bits of beef bones which accumulate in the kitchen. A hundred pounds may be saved in a few weeks. Such bones are more valuable for grass-land, and for burying around all kinds of fruit trees and grape vines, than Peruvian guano, which is worth from three to five cents per pound.

HORSE FEED.—Many English farmers feed no hay to their work horses, but keep them in high working order with straw, roots, and shorts. The equivalent of twelve tons of hay can be produced on one acre in roots. Farmers in this country will eventually bring vegetables more in use as stock feed, for roots are cheap, healthy and nutritious.

A LADY, who has resided for several years at Philadelphia, in rather straightened circumstances, was, last week, made happy by the discovery of a diamond breastpin, worth over $4,000, in a box of old jewels, which had at one time been in the possession of her father. She had it for 10 years without knowing its value.

DODGE'S PATENT REAPER AND MOWER

AND SELF RAKER.

THIS machine has met with the most complete success. In every section where it has been introduced, it has taken precedence over those machines which have heretofore ranked as first-class. It is a perfect Self-Raker and a superior Mower.

A careful examination will convince any one of its superior merits over all others, in simplicity, strength and durability. As a Self-raking Reaper it has no equal to our knowledge.

The Dodge rake is attached to no other machine in the United States, except to this machine.—Built by the DODGE & STEVENSON Manufacturing Co., Auburn, New York.

READ THE NOTICE OF THE COMPANY TO OUR AGENTS:

Having been informed that certain manufacturers in Ohio and elsewhere are building Reapers, with DODGE'S SELF-RAKE attached, we ask you to furnish us the names of all persons vending or purchasing such machines, as we have never licensed any person or persons to manufacture said SELF-RAKE, or any part thereof, and will prosecute to the full extent of the law all persons manufacturing, selling or using said Self-rake except of our own manufacture.

JOHN A. DODGE, President.

We have that confidence in this machine that we are willing to let those wanting a machine test it with any other machine they may wish, and keep the one that gives the most satisfaction.

Farmers wanting Droppers attached can be accommodated.

For the benefit of those wanting machines we should refer them to a few of those to whom we have sold, viz:

MANHOOD

IN THE YOUNG AND RISING GENERATION

The vegetative powers of life are strong; but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scene of the city, the powers of the body, too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom in which Nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain: the parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, for Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Langour, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this Medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sudden and quite destitute—neither Mirth or Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur, it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of Chemistry for the removal of the consequences. HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU. There is no tonic like it. It is an anchor of hope to the surgeon and patient, and this is a testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

Sold by Druggists and Dealers everywhere.—Price $1.25 per bottle, or six bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

Medical.

A Great Medical Discovery

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS.

Hundreds of thousands bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all the poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Billious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Billious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

BILIOUS, REMITTENT and INTERMITTENT FEVER, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great Rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others with their vast tributaries, during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during the seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. There are always more or less obstructions of the liver, a weakness and irritable state of the stomach, and great torpor of the bowels, being clogged up with vitiated accumulations. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. WALKER'S Vinegar Bitters, as they will speedily remove the dark colored viscid matter with which the Bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs. The universal popularity of this valuable remedy in regions subject to miasmatic influences, is sufficient evidence of its power as a remedy in such cases.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

DR. SCHENCK

ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

Having for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is for the patient to avoid taking cold, and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more Northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicine, were getting well.

One hundred miles further down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville. It is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there.—The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite, and when this is the case they generally increase in flesh, and the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are that patients are less liable to take cold there than here, there is a less even temperature, and it is not necessary to say that where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds he is certain to die shortly. Therefore my advice is, go well down into the State out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat or cough, but for those whose lungs are diseased a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1860, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully, and hence, my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills, for the climate is more likely to produce billous habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well established fact that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third, at least, of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States it does not prevail so largely, still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh cold as they are about scarlet fever, small pox, &c. But they are not. They take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days.—They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope for cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected even slightly is, to lay a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Schenck's Mandrake Pills and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know that where they are used in strict accordance with my directions they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough or night-sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is to give my three medicines, in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is to give tone to the stomach—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry. I have hopes of such. With a relish for food and the gratification of that relish comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs. Then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night-sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point, by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the affect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night or every other night, and you may then drink water and eat watermelons, pears, apples, plums, peaches or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office, No. 15 N. SIXTH Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A. M., to 3 P. M.—Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood that the value of my medicine depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say that when persons take my medicines and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold, yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.
